Bluetooth Connected Wearable Locator

Thanks to advances in Bluetooth technology, keeping track of children is becoming much easier with kids wearables. Wearable tech isn't just for people – now you can get your pets synced up with the latest gadgets.

Some trackers use simple radio waves and are excellent for short distance monitoring, like those moments in the supermarket where you turn round to find your little one missing. They usually work using a Bluetooth connection.